Art Club for Individual Development

What the Sessions will cover:-

Keeping a sketch book.

As Art is as much to do with ideas as it is to do with skill, I think it is important that the children get to come up with their own projects. I will of course help pupils to draw from their inspirations and help them develop their ideas, but they will be able to do what they want to do. If they want me to I can give them a project based on their interests.

I will provide them with drawing exercises to develop their drawing skills.

I want the children to be confident about making art whatever their ability so I will be positive and encouraging at all times.

Based on each individual child, I will introduce them to artists I think they will find interesting, and also introduce them to new mediums and working methods I think they will enjoy.

Overall I will be giving guidance and support in a project they can take full credit for.

The Imagination Club

What the Sessions will cover:-

Lively fun discussion on what is imagination? When do we use it and how does it help us. I will be encouraging them to let their imagination go wild but also advise on how to control it.

Inspiration and looking at our favourite stories.

Telling stories and making plays.

Using your imagination in art – From illustration to surrealist art

How to use imagination to improve your memory. - A good imagination developed with the right techniques will lead to a very good memory.

These sessions will be a lot of fun, but by the end of it the children will have developed some very helpful and impressive skills. They will give children confidence and could help them in all subjects in school and in life.

Price

If funding is not available, the costs will depend on how much a school can contribute to the materials. Therefore I'd discuss this with the individual school. A rough figure would be £4 for a 1 and a half hour session per child based on 10 pupils in a club.
